

World History Study Group

Subject Looking at current events through the context of their historical background provides a deeper understanding of what is happening today. Past history can also provide invaluable hints when making plans and projections for the future. History itself is a series of one-off events that happened in the past, but views of history are diverse and change over time. Progress has been particularly pronounced in recent historical studies, and it is not easy to keep up with all the latest developments. For this reason, the group invites experts engaged in progressive research in different areas of world history to discuss the latest findings and views on various points and respond to questions in order to help us form a new concept of its general outline.
